

Dear Professor,

As you may have heard, on Sunday, February 21st at 11am on George Mason's Campus there will be a free practice test for Mason students. The tests that we are offering will be the GRE, LSAT, PCAT, DAT, OAT, NCLEX, & MCAT. The event is completely free of charge to students. This practice test is a fantastic opportunity to practice the timing, format, and question types on one of the most important tests in a student's academic career. I was wondering if you would be able to help circulate news of the free practice tests to your department and/or students so that they have the opportunity to register. I have included the details of the event below.

Thank you!

Dhvani

FREE practice GRE, LSAT, PCAT, DAT, OAT, NCLEX & MCAT--- Sunday, February 21st @ 11am-George Mason University

How would you score? Join us on February 21 to find out!

WHAT: Free Practice Tests for the MCAT, GRE, LSAT, PCAT, OAT, NCLEX and DAT

Proctored, realistic test-day conditions, test strategies, and a detailed score report provided.

Each test will and will be proctored like the actual exam. After the test, guest instructors will give a short workshop on test-taking strategies and answer questions. This is a great opportunity for you to see how they might score on the real thing, and also to get an idea of the questions types that will be on the real test.

WHERE: George Mason University Campus (rooms # will be sent in your reminder email)

WHEN: Sunday, February 21 @ 11am

HOW: To register, please send the following info to gmu.freepracticetest@gmail.com:

1. Name
2. Mailing address
3. Phone number

4. Grad year
5. Which test you would like to take

WHO: Questions? Email:

GMU.FreePracticeTest@gmail.com

(202) 728-8500

Again, this is a completely FREE event and a great opportunity for anyone interested in going to grad, law, pharm, dent, nursing, or med school in the next few years!

See you on 2.21.10!