

Richard E. Wagner: An Autobiographical Sketch

While I was born in Jamestown North Dakota in 1941, I spent only two birthdays there. I subsequently lived in several places in the Los Angeles area, and graduated from the University of Southern California in 1963. Newly married, my wife Barbara, now a ceramic artist, and I moved to Charlottesville, where I attended graduate school at the University of Virginia, receiving my Ph.D. in Economics in 1966. (Besides our two daughters, Barbara and I now have two granddaughters and two grandsons.)

In the subsequent years, I held faculty positions at:

The University of California, Irvine,
Tulane University,
Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University,
Auburn University, and Florida State University.

In 1988 I became the Holbert L. Harris Professor of Economics at George Mason University. During 1989-95 I also served as Chairman of the Department of Economics, and during 1998-2004 I served as Director of Graduate Studies, which I did a second time during 2006-1012.

My scholarly writings have covered numerous topics on economic theory, political economy, and public affairs, most of which are listed on my curriculum vitae. Here is a baker's dozen of my book titles:

Democracy in Deficit [with J. M. Buchanan]
Public Finance: Revenues and Expenditures in a Democratic Society
Charging for Government [Editor and Contributor]
Public Choice and Constitutional Economics [Co-editor and Contributor]
To Promote the General Welfare
Parchment, Guns, and Constitutional Order
Politics, Taxation, and the Rule of Law [Co-editor and Contributor]
Fiscal Sociology and the Theory of Public Finance
Mind, Society, and Human Action
Deficits, Debt, and Democracy: Wrestling with Tragedy on the Fiscal Commons
Politics as a Peculiar Business
Public Debt: An Illusion of Democratic Political Economy [with G. Eusepi]
James M. Buchanan and Liberal Political Economy

Among the journals where my professional articles have been published are the American Economic Review, the Journal of Law and Economics, Kyklos, Public Choice, the Journal of Monetary Economics, the Journal of Money, Credit, and Banking, the National Tax Journal, the Policy Studies Journal, the Cato Journal, the European Journal of Law and Economics, Constitutional Political Economy, the Journal of Law and Politics, the Review of Austrian Economics, Regulation, Critical Review, the Journal of Public Finance and Public Choice, Public Finance Review, the Journal of Economic Behavior and Organization, the Journal of Institutional Economics, the Review of Political Economy, and The American Journal of Economics and Sociology.

I was co-editor of the scholarly journal Constitutional Political Economy from 1989 through 1997, and am currently a member of the editorial boards of Constitutional Political Economy, the Journal of Public Finance and Public Choice, the Cato Journal, Public Finance and Management, and the Review of Austrian Economics. Also, I serve in an advisory capacity for several think tanks.
