

CURRICULUM VITAE

William R. Warrick was born on June 14, 1957, in Newport, Rhode Island, and is an American citizen. He graduated from Hanford High School, Richland, Washington, in 1975. He received his Bachelor of Science from Clarion State College, Clarion, Pennsylvania, in 1979. Bill began his teaching in Tyler County, West Virginia as a fifth grade teacher. After relocating to Fredericksburg, Virginia, in 1984, he was employed in Stafford County Public Schools, Stafford, Virginia, as a fifth and, later, sixth grade teacher.

In 1994, Bill accepted a position as the Coordinator of Instructional Technology in Stafford County Public Schools. He received his Master of Arts in Education from George Mason University, Fairfax, Virginia in 1999.

Bill enrolled in the Ph.D. program in 2001 and accepted a position on the instructional faculty in the Instructional Technology Department at George Mason University.

Papers and presentations include:

Warrick, W., Connors, S, Norton, P. (2004). E-mail, discussion boards, and synchronous chat: Comparing three modes of online collaboration. Proceedings of the Society for Information Technology & Teacher Education (2732-2738). Norfolk, VA: AACE.

Warrick W., Connors, S. and Norton, P. (2003). Learning to mentor: Assessing an online mentor education course. Proceedings of the Society for Information Technology & Teacher Education, Charlottesville (2252 – 2255). Norfolk, VA: AACE.

Norton, P. and Warrick W. (2002). Graduate instruction combining online, on-site, and face-to-face: A Study. Proceedings of the Society for Information Technology & Teacher Education (881-885). Charlottesville, VA: AACE.

Warrick, William R. (1998). Implementation responding to student and teacher needs, Journal of the Virginia Society for Technology in Education, 13 (1) 12-15

Warrick, William R. (1997) Is PEN doomed by the web?, Journal of the Virginia Society for Technology in Education, 12 (1) 7

Warrick, William R. & Cook, T. (1996) Lessons learned, Tips for drafting an Acceptable Use Policy, Journal of the Virginia Society for Technology in Education, 10 (4) 6-9

In 2003, Bill was inducted into Phi Delta Kappa, and in 2004 was awarded the Lois Hendrickson Dissertation Fellowship, which is awarded annually to a doctoral student who meets all the criteria for a dissertation fellowship and shows special promise of preparing an outstanding dissertation.