Subject: Permission to use Youtube link on Web project

Professor Bowyer,

I wanted permission from you to use your youtube video titled below for my Information Technology web report to be used for a project where my research paper was on Biometrics. This will just be a youtube link so people can learn more about this technology innovation. It will be used on a web page we are learning to make with links and is on the public directory for George Mason professors and students only. I hope to gain your permission to use this for my project. Thank you in advance.

To Me

Simren,

Sure. That may be the most recent general lecture about iris recognition of mine that is online.
There is one that is more specific to contact lenses and iris spoofing that is linked on my web page.

I got my undergrad degree at GMU. A few decades ago. :)
